

DIY Antique Mother's Day Vase

You will need:

- a glass jar or bottle
- shoe polish
- masking tape
- kitchen sponges
- gloves (optional)
- something to protect your work surface, such as parchment paper or paper towel (optional)

Step 1:  Tear 1-2 inch pieces of masking tape and tape them to the bottle. Overlap the tape until bottle is completely covered. This can be done in a "pattern" (such as a brick pattern), or at random.

Step 2: Using a sponge, rub the shoe polish on the taped bottle in tiny, circular motions. You will need to apply a couple layers of polish for desired effect. Tip: Dab shoe polish on first, then rub it in.

Step 3: Allow 2-3 hours to dry. Apply more layers after drying to achieve desired shade.
